POLICY OF CONCILIATION URGED ON "TIGER"

CLEMENCEAU SAYS EXPEDIENCY IS NO PART OF HIS PLAN

ALL HIS LIFE HAD BEEN FIGHT-
ER, NOW HAD ONE FOOT
IN GRAVE

CAME HERE IN LAST YEARS OF HIS LIFE TO DELIVER A MESSAGE

(By United Press)
En route with Clemenceau—George Clemenceau, en route to Chicago to continue his battle to win America's heart and soul for France, declared today he was an old man with one foot in the grave and no time for compromise.

Advised in letters and telegrams from numerous influential people in this country that the tenor of his speeches and interviews was giving offense needlessly and was inexpedient, the Tiger bristled up and growled that he would never "pull his punches."

"All my life I have been a fighter. Now I am an old man with one foot in the grave. I came here in the last years of my life with a message. It is inside of me. I intend to deliver it. Expediency has no part in my scheme of things," he said.

Colonel House was one of the prominent advisors of the Tiger. Telegrams from many parts of the country urged a policy of conciliation to conform to American public opinion. Clemenceau waved aside such suggestions with a shrug.

"I am sorry if I give offense," he said. "But I certainly cannot change my ways at this time of life. I cannot say other than I have come to say. It is my way."

Friends headed by Colonel House who conferred with him in New York yesterday, explained to the veteran statesman how a mission of winning sympathy for France could be accomplished with less stirring up of senatorial antagonism. Clemenceau patted them on the back, each in turn. "That's a very fine mission for you," he said, "mine I must carry out in my own way."

Clemenceau as he talked waved his bristly snowy brows up and down and warned to his subject: "I did not come here on an errand of expediency," he said, "I came here to tell the truth. I didn't come to say pleasant things, but to tell America what in my opinion is valuable. I want to say the things which in my opinion will help the peace of the world. I have never been expedient. I will make no sacrifice to expediency now. I don't want the success of expediency and compromise. I must say what I have to say in my own way."

"There is nobody in this but myself," he added.

Chicago Welcomes Clemenceau
Chicago, Nov. 27—A salute of French 75's will greet Clemenceau when he arrives here this afternoon. Guns from the Argonne will fire a salute of welcome when the reception committee headed by General Pershing meets the Tiger as he steps off his special train.

The veteran statesman will be conducted through the loop where the tri-color of France along with the Stars and Stripes floats from office buildings en route in honor of his visit to the city.

Clemenceau will make but one platform appearance during his stay when he delivers a speech at the auditorium theatre tomorrow afternoon.

Brigadier General Charles G. Dawes at this time will present the Tiger to Chicago.

STATUTORY CHARGE IS QUASHED BECAUSE OF A PRETTY GIRL

CASS COUNTY POLICE SEIZE FRANK CONLON, ALLEGED
CHECK FORGER

SAVE GIRL ALLEGED TO HAVE BEEN ENTICED ON PROMISE OF MARRIAGE

(By United Press)
Fargo, Nov. 27—Cass county authorities today quashed statutory charges against Frank Conlon, alleged check forger in order to shield a pretty 19 year old girl he is alleged to have enticed here on promises of marriage.

Police said she was a "good girl" and withheld her name. She is believed to have accompanied Conlon here from Crookston. Conlon was bound over to district court on a charge of forging checks. He gave his residence as Green Bay, Wis., and reported himself as a publicity man for Armour & Company. He is 24.

The extent of his forging is unknown, police said, as checks continued to come in from Fargo, Crookston and Grand Forks. The specific charge on which he is held is passage of a $5.00 check at the Y. M. C. A. written on the First National bank of Chicago. Police said Conlon used the name of E. W. Smith and F. W. Geddes.

DER ARREST AS RESULT OF
RIOTING

5,000 IRISH REPUBLIC SYMPA-
THIZERS BATTLE POLICE
RIOTING

Editorial Note—When one reads this news story of 5,000 rioters and only FOUR arrests, one wonders what the much vaunted body of New York police was doing all the time.

(By United Press)
New York, Nov. 27—Twenty persons were injured and four are under arrest today as the result of rioting when 5,000 Irish republic sympathizers routed firemen and police reserves here last night.

An effigy of King George was burned at the height of fighting which was precipitated when the police tried to prevent an over-flowing meeting outside the Earl Carroll theatre held to denounce execution of Erskin Childers, and "murder" of Mary MacSwiney. The rioting raged for hours. Women lead the rebellion, clashing the faces of policemen and tearing their uniforms from them. The officers were finally forced to withdraw and watch the disturbance until it died out shortly after midnight.

FOUR HURT WHEN COACHES DERAILED

(By United Press)
Millard, Mo., Nov. 27—Four passengers were slightly injured when three coaches of Wabash passenger train No. 20, left the track near here today.

The train, en route from St. Paul, was due at St. Louis at 2:45 P. M. The injured were rushed to St. Louis on a relief train.

HIS MARRIAGE TO MRS. BLANCHE
BRIMMER DECLARED
ILLEGAL

(By United Press)
South Bend, Ind., Nov. 27—Professor John P. Tiernan jilted his "mail-order" bride today and went back to his first and legal wife, Augusta Tiernan.

Tiernan's second wife, Mrs. Blanche Brimmer of Airedale, Iowa, whose marriage to the professor was declared illegal nine hours after they were wedded at Crown Point Saturday, returns to her home in Iowa admittedly disillusioned. The professor, who wooed and won his second wife and married her two hours after his divorce from his first wife by correspondence, forsook the widow for his first love when he learned she had been the central figure of at least two former marriages and divorce entanglements.

"That woman deceived me," he said. "She told me Brimmer was dead, and I understand he is still alive. I hear also she has another husband in Pennsylvania."

Tiernan admitted however that the lightning action of his wife No. 1 in securing nullification of their divorce and her own desire for reconciliation had something to do in the matter.

FARMERS ASK HALF MILLION TO HELP ELIMINATE BLACK STEM RUST OF WHEAT

(By United Press)
Washington, Nov. 27—Representations of the farmers in the big wheat producing sections of the middle west today asked the subcommittee of the House appropriations committee to appropriate $500,000 to help eliminate black stem rust of wheat.

In ten states, the loss from black stem rust last year was nearly 39,000,000 bushels of wheat, 3,850,000 bushels of barley, and 19,000,000 bushels of oats.

Nestos of North Dakota; President J. F. Reed of the Minnesota Farm Bureau Federation; President W. F. Hill of the South Dakota Farm Bureau Federation, and Harrison Fuller, secretary of the conference for the prevention of grain rust.

SKULL FRACTURED, SEEKS 2 CHILDREN, DROWNS IN RIVER

TRAIN OF ACCIDENTS WITH FATAL
ENDING FOR RICHARD
DeMARS

CAR WITHOUT LIGHTS STRUCK
POLE, PAUL DRAGER IN-
STANTLY KILLED

(By United Press)
St. Paul, Nov. 27—Staggering about with a fractured skull, blindly seeking two missing children, Richard DeMars, victim of an automobile accident, careened over a bridge and was drowned in the Crow Wing river.

Paul Drager was killed when the machine was wrecked. The children, uninjured, were trudging along the dark country road four miles to their homes to tell of the deaths of their fathers.

DeMars and Drager, who lived at Hassan near Anoka, were driving home when the lights on the car failed. They stopped in a garage at St. Michaels and were advised against going further as the lights could not be repaired. They started out and in making a turn across the Crow Wing bridge, the machine crashed into a telegraph pole, snapping it off a foot from the ground.

The children, Richard DeMars, jr., six, and Sylvia Drager, 8, were thrown out. Drager's body was found a few feet from the car, and DeMars' body was found in the river. He had fallen from the bridge while searching for the boy and girl who left the scene, thinking he was dead.

AMERICA WINS IN 'OPEN DOOR' POLICY

(By United Press)
Lausanne, Nov. 27—America won her fight on the open door in the Near East today when the British delegation announced that Britain had abandoned the San Remo agreement.

The British, they said, consider this agreement nullified and stated that it would not be applied.

Marquis Curzon, foreign secretary, announced officially that England and America were completely agreed on the open door policy in the Near East.

SHIP SUBSIDY IN DANGEROUS WATERS

(By United Press)
Washington, Nov. 27—The administration's ship subsidy bill sailed into dangerous waters today as the measure was taken up in the House for amendment.

Republican leaders who claim there has been a decided shift of sentiment their way during the past few days, professed confidence that the bill would weather the gale and come to a final vote Wednesday without any material changes in its essential features, and substantially as President Harding wants it.

Subsidy opponents were just as confident that they would be able to "shoot the bill to pieces."

DRY AGENTS GET 60 IN MILL CITY ROADHOUSE RAID

28 FEDERAL OFFICERS SUR-
ROUND "PUMPKIN HILL" RE-
SORT AT MIDNIGHT

SEVEN CARS CARRY GOVERN-
MENT RAIDERS, WOMEN
SHRIEKED

Minneapolis, Nov. 27—Cutting off every chance of escape, 28 federal agents with drawn pistols burst into the Pumpkin Hill roadhouse just before 1 a. m. Sunday and held 60 men and women under guard while they searched the place for liquor.

Women screamed, men leaped up from the tables where they sat, turning toward the exits, then shrank back as they saw squads of agents pouring into the place by every door. The Pumpkin Hill roadhouse is 1½ miles outside Minneapolis on the Sixth avenue North road.

The roadhouse is a residence structure, with 10 rooms. Parties were going on in several of the rooms, agents said.

The raid, planned for days, was carried out with the precision of a war-time trench raid.

The agents, in seven automobiles, assembled in two parties at the homes of two members of the raiding body. Each party then staged a minor raid. They joined at a rendezvous downtown shortly after midnight and drove at top speed out through north Minneapolis. Speed was coupled with secrecy to prevent any possibility of a tip reaching the objective.

The agents found automobiles parked for half a mile along the highway near the roadhouse. Drawing up quietly the agents left the cars, and under a previously worked out plan, quickly organized into detached squads, making for doors and windows to enter simultaneously and cut off every chance of escape.

STRUCK BY AUTO AND LEFT TO DIE

(By United Press)
Minneapolis, Nov. 27—Authorities of three counties searched today for a motorist who ran down Adolph Hartkopf, 60, near Osseo last night, and left him to die in the road. The body of the aged man was found by a constable four miles from Osseo early today. Two motorists headed north stopped at Osseo and told the constable that they had seen a man lying in the road. The constable started for the scene without learning the names of his informants. Hartkopf died from a fractured skull.

CONTRACTORS' HOPES WERE BLASTED TODAY

(By United Press)
St. Paul, Nov. 27—Hopes of contractors that they would be paid for constructing national guard armories in fourteen cities of the state were blasted today when it was announced the state military board had postponed indefinitely its meeting scheduled for this week.

The contractors have already waited more than three months for their money. It was reported at the capitol that the board had struck a snag in its plan to obtain funds with which to make payments.

ADMINISTRATION IN COMPROMISE

(By United Press)
Washington, Nov. 27—Administration forces in the House were forced to accept a compromise when the first test of the strength on amendments to the ship subsidy bill came in the House today.

An amendment by Rep. Graham, of Illinois, republican, providing that the shipping board must offer for competitive bidding any vessels to be sold under the bill was adopted.

Graham warned that republican leaders must accept other amendments if the measure is to be made defensible to republicans of the middle west.

SKULL FRACTURED, SEEKS 2 CHILDREN, DROWNS IN RIVER

TRAIN OF ACCIDENTS WITH FATAL
ENDING FOR RICHARD
DeMARS

CAR WITHOUT LIGHTS STRUCK
POLE, PAUL DRAGER IN-
STANTLY KILLED

(By United Press) St. Paul, Nov. 27—Staggering about with a fractured skull, blindly seeking two missing children, Richard DeMars, victim of an automobile accident, careened over a bridge and was drowned in the Crow Wing river.

Paul Drager was killed when the machine was wrecked. The children, uninjured, were trudging along the dark country road four miles to their homes to tell of the deaths of their fathers.

DeMars and Drager, who lived at Hassan near Anoka, were driving home when the lights on the car failed. They stopped in a garage at St. Michaels and were advised against going further as the lights could not be repaired. They started out and in making a turn across the Crow Wing bridge, the machine crashed into a telegraph pole, snapping it off a foot from the ground.

The children, Richard DeMars, Jr., six, and Sylvia Drager, 8, were thrown out. Drager's body was found a few feet from the car, and DeMars' body was found in the river. He had fallen from the bridge while searching for the boy and girl who left the scene, thinking he was dead.

AMERICA WINS IN 'OPEN DOOR' POLICY

(By United Press) Lausanne, Nov. 27—America won her fight on the open door in the Near East today when the British delegation announced that Britain had abandoned the San Remo agreement.

The British, they said, consider this agreement nullified and stated that it would not be applied.

Marquis Curzon, foreign secretary, announced officially that England and America were completely agreed on the open door policy in the Near East.

SHIP SUBSIDY IN DANGEROUS WATERS

(By United Press) Washington, Nov. 27—The administration's ship subsidy bill sailed into dangerous waters today as the measure was taken up in the House for amendment.

Republican leaders who claim there has been a decided shift of sentiment their way during the past few days, professed confidence that the bill would weather the gale and come to a final vote Wednesday without any material changes in its essential features, and substantially as President Harding wants it.

Subsidy opponents were just as confident that they would be able to "shoot the bill to pieces."

DRY AGENTS GET 60 IN MILL CITY ROADHOUSE RAID

28 FEDERAL OFFICERS SUR-
ROUND "PUMPKIN HILL" RE-
SORT AT MIDNIGHT

SEVEN CARS CARRY GOVERN-
MENT RAIDERS, WOMEN
SHRIEKED

Minneapolis, Nov. 27—Cutting off every chance of escape, 28 federal agents with drawn pistols burst into the Pumpkin Hill roadhouse just before 1 a. m. Sunday and held 60 men and women under guard while they searched the place for liquor.

Women screamed, men leaped up from the tables where they sat, turning toward the exits, then shrank back as they saw squads of agents pouring into the place by every door.

The Pumpkin Hill roadhouse is 1½ miles outside Minneapolis on the Sixth avenue North road.

The roadhouse is a residence structure, with 10 rooms. Parties were going on in several of the rooms, agents said.

The raid, planned for days, was carried out with the precision of a war-time trench raid.

The agents, in seven automobiles, assembled in two parties at the homes of two members of the raiding body. Each party then staged a minor raid. They joined at a rendezvous downtown shortly after midnight and drove at top speed out through north Minneapolis. Speed was coupled with secrecy to prevent any possibility of a tip reaching the objective.

The agents found automobiles parked for half a mile along the highway near the roadhouse. Drawing up quietly the agents left the cars, and under a previously worked out plan, quickly organized into detached squads, making for doors and windows to enter simultaneously and cut off every chance of escape.

STRUCK BY AUTO AND LEFT TO DIE

(By United Press) Minneapolis, Nov. 27—Authorities of three counties searched today for a motorist who ran down Adolph Hartkopf, 60, near Osseo last night, and left him to die in the road. The body of the aged man was found by a constable four miles from Osseo early today. Two motorists headed north stopped at Osseo and told the constable that they had seen a man lying in the road. The constable started for the scene without learning the names of his informants. Hartkopf died from a fractured skull.

CONTRACTORS' HOPES WERE BLASTED TODAY

(By United Press) St. Paul, Nov. 27—Hopes of contractors that they would be paid for constructing national guard armories in fourteen cities of the state were blasted today when it was announced the state military board had postponed indefinitely its meeting scheduled for this week.

The contractors have already waited more than three months for their money. It was reported at the capitol that the board had struck a snag in its plan to obtain funds with which to make payments.

ADMINISTRATION IN COMPROMISE

(By United Press) Washington, Nov. 27—Administration forces in the House were forced to accept a compromise when the first test of the strength on amendments to the ship subsidy bill came in the House today.

An amendment by Rep. Graham, of Illinois, republican, providing that the shipping board must offer for competitive bidding any vessels to be sold under the bill was adopted.

Graham warned that republican leaders must accept other amendments if the measure is to be made defensible to republicans of the middle west.

DISTRICT COURT PROCEEDINGS

In district court Saturday afternoon the case of J. August Johnson against the town of Dean Lake was started and the jury drawn.

Mr. Johnson alleges that there is considerable due him on a road contract which he completed in the town of Dean Lake. The town contends that the contract was not completed and that the work was left in such shape that added expense was heaped upon the taxpayers.

Murphy and Cook of Crosby are attorneys for Mr. Johnson, and L. T. Mahany of Aitkin is counsel for the town of Dean Lake. The case is an appeal, taken from a lower court.

The jury consists of W. H. McIntyre, Preston Caughey, Albert Kruger, Charles Hines, Marion Deving, Frank Benjamin, Charles Mitchell, W. E. Fitzharris, Fred Spencer, W. H. Andrews, Joseph Edwards and G. A. Knapp.

The case went to the jury at 4:20 o'clock Saturday afternoon, and they were soon back with a verdict in which they found for the defendant, Charles Mitchell was foreman.

Robinson vs Town of Dean Lake The case of Henry Robinson against the town of Dean Lake, an appealed case similar to the one above was begun Saturday and a jury drawn before court adjourned. But later in the evening the parties settled it outside of court.

No Cases Monday No other cases being ready for trial Monday, Judge W. S. McClenahan adjourned court until Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock. The appealed cases of the State against Clarence Witham and George Schibb were continued until the next term, as some of the important witnesses are in the west and cannot be reached for the present session.

A SWEET SINGER, RADIANTLY PRETTY

Gladys Swarthout is Lavishly Praised for Her Splendid Recital at New Park on Sunday

AUSPICES OF MUSICAL CLUB

Here Was a Young Lady Who Loved
to Sing and Asked You to Enjoy
Her Music With Her

(Contributed)

One goes to a concert to receive pleasure through the ear. When to that is added pleasure of the eye, the performance is doubly a joy. On Sunday afternoon, when Miss Gladys Swarthout appeared on the stage, to the minds of many came a vision of an old-fashioned daguerrotype, of a radiantly pretty young lady in a gold brocade gown, with her shining slippers peeping out beneath the hem of her skirt. The little hoop effect at the sides of her skirt and even the individual cut of her bobbed hair gave you an impression of some one different. With her shining dark eyes and her charming manners came an impression that here was a young lady who loved to sing and was asking you to enjoy her music with her. A platform presence so remarkably full of "camaraderie," helped with so winning a smile, must be a marvelous asset to an artist.

Gladys Swarthout seems, at first glance, far too young to be a finished concert soloist, but that impression is dissipated as soon as she begins to sing. Sunday she sang to a good audience at the New Park theatre and was applauded again and again. She responded most generously with encores, but never enough to satisfy her audience. Some of our latest soloists have saved their encores for the last, but she sprinkled them with a free hand throughout the program. She has a beautiful voice which she handles excellently well, and with it a depth of feeling and a power of expression that augur well for a brilliant future. Her enunciation was perfect. She has a power of dramatization that makes you fairly see characters she portrays in her songs, be the song ever so short, or in a foreign tongue. Of course the majority of the audience enjoyed the English songs the most.

She sang Tschalkowsky's "Adieu, forests, from 'Jeanne d'Arc' with a feeling and a something in the poise of her body and her facial expression that made you feel the sorrows of the little French maiden. Wekerlin's "Chantons les amours de Jean," though French, presented to you the feelings of Jean and his love. There was a light and airy grace in her simplest songs that pleased you, and then a wealth of power and sustained effort in her bigger ones that stirred your deeper emotions as her lovely voice rang out over the theatre. Always there was an ease and naturalness that made her singing a joyous thing. There was that finished quality to her singing that proved how thoroughly it was trained.

She sang the program given in the Dispatch last week, with the exception of two English numbers which she substituted for two French ones. They were "Lift Thine Eyes" and "I Know a Garden" by Loyal and D'Hordelot.

For encores she gave "A Rainy Day," "Just For This," "By the Waters of Minnetonka," and last a most appropriate ending for a Sabbath program—West's lovely setting for "I Think When I Hear that Sweet Story of Old." It was a lovely, lovely program.

All this excellence was aided much by Miss Bertha Hagen, the accompanist, who played with an ease and a sympathetic appreciation of the songs that helped make the program such a perfect thing. Her technic and her fingering were so fine that she drew much praise from her audience, and many expressed regret that she did not appear with at least one piece of solo work.

We were pleased with the large attendance at our Thanksgiving program, "The Christ of Judea for the Jews of America," held during the Sunday school hour. All departments met together taking part in this program. A thank offering was taken for the Home Mission Board which is undertaking a ministry to the Jews in five centers in the United States.

Only one teacher absent and that because of illness in the home.

Two new teachers, Miss Oldenburg and Miss Smith, were added to our splendid list of teachers. We appreciate very much their offer of service and trust we may be of help to them.

TEN MINNESOTA BABY BEEVES BOUGHT BY NORTHERN PACIFIC AT JUNIOR SHOW

Ten fat calves proudly born and tenderly reared by Minnesota boys for the Junior Live Stock Show, were purchased at auction in South St. Paul Nov. 17th by the Northern Pacific railway.

Beginning this week they will be served on Northern Pacific dining cars.

The owners of the ten baby beeves were: Clair Cordingley, Montevideo; Douglas Laurich, Mapleton; W. Whitney, Mapleton; Harry Studer, St. Cloud; Peter Cassidy, Litchfield; Ernest Bresler, Canby; A. Sandbaken, Boyd; S. Campbell, Utica; L.

There will be no prayer meeting Thursday evening because of the union Thanksgiving service in the Swedish Baptist church at 10:30 when Rev. Arthur Smith will preach the sermon. All are asked to make a special effort to be present.

Sunday morning at 9:30 Lewis Buchite and Eva Hollingsworth were united in marriage at the manse. Harold Hollingsworth and Hattie Van Doren were the witnesses. We wish them many happy years of wedded life.

Sunday afternoon the pastor drove to South Long Lake where he held services in the Presbyterian church.

The sermon on "Opportunity" with scripture from Esther 4:14 was one that carried an appeal to every one present.

"God never leaves Himself without a witness but there are times when God reveals Himself by weak things rather than the mighty. The small voice in the quiet retirement brings many a rich message that leads to deliverance."

"Too many forget that privilege is responsibility. That talents are given that they may be put to divine use. That receiving is in order to giving. This is the law of God and nature. It is the law for nations, communities, individuals and churches."

"Expediency is man's wisdom, doing right is God's."

"We cannot hold back from Christ's cause with impunity. It can do without us but we cannot do without it."

Scherfenberg, St. Cloud, and J. Johnson, St. Cloud.

"We bought the ten calves—not the first state prize winners, but all first and second prize county winners—to encourage boys and girls, who did not quite succeed in carrying away the grand awards of the Junior Show," said E. F. Benson, manager of the Department of Immigration and Industry of the Northern Pacific. "Everyone cannot win the grand prize but every boy and every girl who goes into the important work of raising good beef will win out in a financial way, as well as in the satisfaction of doing an essential service for mankind, and doing it well. It does not pay to raise poor cattle, in comparison to the rewards of the better grades. The results of the boys' and girls' clubs throughout the Northwest proved this to be true."

The Northern Pacific paid the top price in group sales and every animal selected by the railroad's dining car stewards was so plump that the stockmen felt like waiting over in the Twin Cities for a few days in order to be sure of getting a "baby beef" steak on the train trip back home after the sales were over.

AUSPICES OF MUSICAL CLUB

Here Was a Young Lady Who Loved
to Sing and Asked You to Enjoy
Her Music With Her

(Contributed)

One goes to a concert to receive pleasure through the ear. When to that is added pleasure of the eye, the performance is doubly a joy. On Sunday afternoon, when Miss Gladys Swarthout appeared on the stage, to the minds of many came a vision of an old-fashioned daguerrotype, of a radiantly pretty young lady in a gold brocade gown, with her shining slippers peeping out beneath the hem of her skirt. The little hoop effect at the sides of her skirt and even the individual cut of her bobbed hair gave you an impression of some one different. With her shining dark eyes and her charming manners came an impression that here was a young lady who loved to sing and was asking you to enjoy her music with her. A platform presence so remarkably full of "camaraderie," helped with so winning a smile, must be a marvelous asset to an artist.

Gladys Swarthout seems, at first glance, far too young to be a finished concert soloist, but that impression is dissipated as soon as she begins to sing. Sunday she sang to a good audience at the New Park theatre and was applauded again and again. She responded most generously with encores, but never enough to satisfy her audience. Some of our latest soloists have saved their encores for the last, but she sprinkled them with a free hand throughout the program. She has a beautiful voice which she handles excellently well, and with it a depth of feeling and a power of expression that augur well for a brilliant future. Her enunciation was perfect. She has a power of dramatization that makes you fairly see characters she portrays in her songs, be the song ever so short, or in a foreign tongue. Of course the majority of the audience enjoyed the English songs the most.

She sang Tschalkowsky's "Adieu, forests, from "Jeanne d'Arc" with a feeling and a something in the poise of her body and her facial expression that made you feel the sorrows of the little French maiden. The long looked for dance of the B. P. W. Saturday was a great success. Over a hundred couples comfortably filled the hall. Many more would have made it too crowded. The decorations were in the gold and brown of autumn. Suspended on wires over the heads of the dancers hung myriad streams of all colors.

When the lights were turned on, the hall was a place of beauty. The Hedstrom orchestra played for the dancers, following the latest idea of getting away from too much jazz, which is getting blows everywhere. Praise for the music was heard everywhere, and appreciation expressed by the fact that very few dances were "sat out" by either the men or the ladies. They played two late dances which were much appreciated, "Lonesome Mama Blues" and "Martha," published by the J. W. Jenkins Co., of Kansas City, Mo. The swing of the music coupled with the "pep" of the players made the dancing a joy.

At 11:30 rolls of serpentine confetti began descending upon the crowd. After a few thuds when a roll hit an unwary dancer, there was a wild scramble and much hilarity as vari-colored serpents spun out to their full length and encircled the nearest dancers or hung suspended from the decorations. Soon all the dancers were wrapped in long spirals and had nesting in their hair many brilliantly colored little squares of confetti, which whirled through the air and found lodging everywhere. The floor became one of paper which accumulated as the minutes passed, until a dainty satin pump became a monstrous thing of paper, or some poor wight had to miss a step of the dance while he kicked free from a rapidly increasing paper boot.

At midnight the party ceased, with all agreeing that it was one of the "nicest" dances of the season, with everything properly conducted from the floor and trimmings to the frappe in the corner. The credit is due to the committee that worked under the efficient leadership of Miss Fieda Caniff.

MINNESOTA CALLED TO SUPREME BENCH

WITHOUT doubt the senate will confirm the nomination of Pierce Butler, of St. Paul, as Associate Justice of the Supreme Court. The appointment will bring a high honor to the state of Minnesota and will reward one of her distinguished sons whose fine legal attainments and splendid manhood have led to a call to this place of prominence. Pierce Butler will be the second justice appointed from the Northwest states to the bench of the Supreme Court.

It has been rumored that there will be opposition to the appointment on the part of those who are known as progressives in the senate. Because Pierce Butler had handled the legal business of large corporations it is suggested that, through association with the business of these interests, he will have been prejudiced to some degree, and that his attitude to questions referred to the Supreme Court will be determined more or less by such association with large corporate and financial interests.

While there is a certain truth underlying such criticisms of those who have been called to responsible positions, it is true on the other hand that only those who have been able to rise to a high place in the legal profession have given evidence of their possession of those qualifications that are demanded of appointees to a position of such importance as Associate Justice of the Supreme Court.

It is true that association has a very marked influence on any individual, and it is also true that legal training and practice have a tendency to beget an interest in technicalities that are not considered as important by the layman, whose attitude is determined by what appears to be plain justice without regard to the technicalities that are present in the law. Because of this, it is hard for the plain citizen to understand such decisions as those which declared that the law, limiting campaign expenses of senators, under which Senator Newberry was accused, unconstitutional, or the child labor law which had such a beneficial purpose invalid.

In the case of Pierce Butler, however, the Supreme Court will add a democrat to its personnel, and the president cannot be accused of nominating the new justice from partisan motives. The services of this son of Minnesota, whose nomination has brought distinguished honor to his state, have not been limited to his professional services. As a member of the Board of Regents of the University he has served faithfully, and in this service has been kept in touch with those common human interests and with the progressive and forward looking program of a great institution whose outlook is democratic.

In Pierce Butler judicial temperament and upright character are blended. The man and the lawyer are not separated in him; they live together.

BRAINERD'S SCHOOLS

EDUCATIONAL week, December 3 to 9, will afford a splendid opportunity for the citizens of Brainerd to give special attention to the city's educational needs. Already certain public spirited individuals and organizations have given considerable time to studying the conditions in the schools of the city. Because of conditions, due almost entirely to the iniquitous gross earnings tax by which money that should be used directly for our local educational demands, goes into the coffers of the state, the funds at the disposal of the school board, to be devoted to educational purposes, must be assessed against property owners who are already overburdened by taxation. Efforts have been made to remedy this condition of affairs, but not anything commensurate with Brainerd's need has been secured from the state.

Educational week will afford an opportunity to Brainerd's citizens to study the new educational bill which proposes a remedy for this evil in the apportionment of taxation. Citizens will be invited to go to the high school that they may see its overcrowded condition and through becoming acquainted with it become the ardent supporters of the program that will be submitted to the citizens of this city in due course of time.

Criticisms are useless and uncalled for in this regard. What is needed is cooperation. Our schools are overcrowded, our teachers are working under a handicap, our children are not getting the benefits of up-to-date educational facilities. A new high school is demanded. The people must be acquainted with the conditions, and when they are they will appreciate the work of the school board and offer their hearty cooperation in carrying out those plans which the board will submit at the right time.

BAPTISTS CELEBRATE THEIR JUBILEE

THE members of the First Baptist church, led by their minister, Rev. A. C. Smith, have been holding high festival during the past few days. It is fifty years since this church was founded in Brainerd, and together with the organization of the First Methodist and First Congregational churches of the city, its organization was co-incidental with the founding of the city of Brainerd. It is interesting to note that three churches were born in the city in the year in which the city itself was incorporated.

This jubilee year raises many questions in the minds of those who are active in the church organizations of the city. One of these is forced upon the attention by the disturbed industrial relations which have tended to check the optimistic enthusiasm with which the people entered into the services commemorating fifty years of activity in the community.

It will be universally admitted, except by such as have decided that this world must fulfill a plan that calls for its gradual passing into the control of evil forces, that the inharmonious industrial relations that exist in industry today, precipitating a strike which has wrought ill in our community, are out of accord with the teaching of the church which insists that brotherly relations between man and man, employer and employee, must be realized. Nevertheless, there is no cause for throwing up the struggle. Battles have been won and the church has played its part in the victory. The program has not been fully crowned with success; there are yet tugs to come, and in commemorating fifty years of achievement, the people of this church, and the two neighbor churches that commemorate their jubilee, will gird themselves for a stronger tug, hoping that they may pull harder and stronger and more victoriously in the next fifty years than they, and those who preceded them, have in the past.

THE OTHER HALF OF THE WORLD

THE old adage, "One half of the world does not know how the other half lives," has never been fully appreciated by either half of the world. Lack of understanding of the other man's position is the most effective cause of the antagonisms that so often disturb individual and social relations. When one person is required to take another person's place for a while, the substitute learns something of the conditions which are largely responsible for determining the other person's attitude to life.

E. G. Hall, president of the Minnesota Federation of Labor, writing to the Minneapolis Journal, in one of a series of articles by different writers, under the head "Greater Minnesota," has this to say:

"If those who are honestly and sincerely interested in the future of our state, and who really want to find out how best to remove the discontent, would, say for six months, start out to raise their families of three or five on an average wage of $3.00 a day, and out of that supply food, clothing, rent and fuel and the other necessities that we need in the way of a living, and provide education for those who are destined to be the future citizens, many of the problems that are continually cropping up will be eliminated, and the greatness of our state will be realized in greater proportion than anyone ever dreamed."

On the other hand it is true that if the man whose income is $3.00 a day could take the place of another man whose income is much larger, he might be brought to realize that his ideas of the other man's easy life had been very far from the truth. He would find that whereas he receives $3.00 a day for working a certain number of hours and leaves his work when those hours have passed, the other man's hours are not fixed, and that often in those hours when he is supposed to be away from his toil he is at work on problems that disturb the tranquility of his life.

Nevertheless, it is true that if those who are more fortunate in their control of this world's goods would try to see the hardships that enter the lives of those who are not so fortunate, out of the better understanding that would ensue, there would come more cordial and humane relationships, with better communities and better states.

It looks now as though the nations of Europe had plucked Turkey which is in danger of falling into boiling Greece.

CITY SCHOOLS

GET $24,925

Qualifying for the first time last year, Brainerd city schools have received a pro-rata proportion of the gross earnings tax amounting to $24,925.

There was due under the law $32,081.64, and the state not having sufficient to divide pro-rated it among the districts qualifying and Brainerd's share, as mentioned above, was close to $25,000.

Opportunity to Convert War Savings Stamps, Soon to Fall Due, to Treasury Savings Certificates

"It is to be hoped that every person who can do so will exchange War Saving Stamps, soon to fall due, for Treasury savings certificates," said Postmaster H. P. Dunn.

"The large amount of money invested and the great number of persons who purchased war savings stamps showed that the people of this country could save money when the necessity arose. Now, if they will take the money when they bought stamps to aid the government in the prosecution of the war and buy Treasury savings certificates, they will demonstrate that the thrift lessons of the war have not been without effect. The holders of war savings stamps have seen investments of about $20.50 grow to $25 in five years, and larger amounts in the same proportion. They can see the same thing repeated if they reinvest in Treasury savings certificates. Interest accumulates at the rate of 4 per cent each year, compounded semi-annually. These savings certificates are exempt from the normal federal income tax, and from all state and local taxation (except estate and inheritance taxes), and may be held to the amount of $5,000, maturity value for each issue, by every member of a family. They are backed by the credit of the United States government, and afford an easy and sure method of saving."

MINNESOTA CALLED TO SUPREME BENCH

WITHOUT doubt the senate will confirm the nomination of Pierce Butler, of St. Paul, as Associate Justice of the Supreme Court. The appointment will bring a high honor to the state of Minnesota and will reward one of her distinguished sons whose fine legal attainments and splendid manhood have led to a call to this place of prominence. Pierce Butler will be the second justice appointed from the Northwest states to the bench of the Supreme Court.

It has been rumored that there will be opposition to the appointment on the part of those who are known as progressives in the senate. Because Pierce Butler had handled the legal business of large corporations it is suggested that, through association with the business of these interests, he will have been prejudiced to some degree, and that his attitude to questions referred to the Supreme Court will be determined more or less by such association with large corporate and financial interests.

While there is a certain truth underlying such criticisms of those who have been called to responsible positions, it is true on the other hand that only those who have been able to rise to a high place in the legal profession have given evidence of their possession of those qualifications that are demanded of appointees to a position of such importance as Associate Justice of the Supreme Court.

It is true that association has a very marked influence on any individual, and it is also true that legal training and practice have a tendency to beget an interest in technicalities that are not considered as important by the layman, whose attitude is determined by what appears to be plain justice without regard to the technicalities that are present in the law. Because of this, it is hard for the plain citizen to understand such decisions as those which declared that the law, limiting campaign expenses of senators, under which Senator Newberry was accused, unconstitutional, or the child labor law which had such a beneficial purpose invalid.

In the case of Pierce Butler, however, the Supreme Court will add a democrat to its personnel, and the president cannot be accused of nominating the new justice from partisan motives. The services of this son of Minnesota, whose nomination has brought distinguished honor to his state, have not been limited to his professional services. As a member of the Board of Regents of the University he has served faithfully, and in this service has been kept in touch with those common human interests and with the progressive and forward looking program of a great institution whose outlook is democratic.

In Pierce Butler judicial temperament and upright character are blended. The man and the lawyer are not separated in him; they live together.

BRAINERD'S SCHOOLS

EDUCATIONAL week, December 3 to 9, will afford a splendid opportunity for the citizens of Brainerd to give special attention to the city's educational needs. Already certain public spirited individuals and organizations have given considerable time to studying the conditions in the schools of the city. Because of conditions, due almost entirely to the iniquitous gross earnings tax by which money that should be used directly for our local educational demands, goes into the coffers of the state, the funds at the disposal of the school board, to be devoted to educational purposes, must be assessed against property owners who are already overburdened by taxation. Efforts have been made to remedy this condition of affairs, but not anything commensurate with Brainerd's need has been secured from the state.

Educational week will afford an opportunity to Brainerd's citizens to study the new educational bill which proposes a remedy for this evil in the apportionment of taxation. Citizens will be invited to go to the high school that they may see its overcrowded condition and through becoming acquainted with it become the ardent supporters of the program that will be submitted to the citizens of this city in due course of time.

Criticisms are useless and uncalled for in this regard. What is needed is cooperation. Our schools are overcrowded, our teachers are working under a handicap, our children are not getting the benefits of up-to-date educational facilities. A new high school is demanded. The people must be acquainted with the conditions, and when they are they will appreciate the work of the school board and offer their hearty cooperation in carrying out those plans which the board will submit at the right time.

BAPTISTS CELEBRATE THEIR JUBILEE

THE members of the First Baptist church, led by their minister, Rev. A. C. Smith, have been holding high festival during the past few days. It is fifty years since this church was founded in Brainerd, and together with the organization of the First Methodist and First Congregational churches of the city, its organization was co-incidental with the founding of the city of Brainerd. It is interesting to note that three churches were born in the city in the year in which the city itself was incorporated.

This jubilee year raises many questions in the minds of those who are active in the church organizations of the city. One of these is forced upon the attention by the disturbed industrial relations which have tended to check the optimistic enthusiasm with which the people entered into the services commemorating fifty years of activity in the community.

It will be universally admitted, except by such as have decided that this world must fulfill a plan that calls for its gradual passing into the control of evil forces, that the inharmonious industrial relations that exist in industry today, precipitating a strike which has wrought ill in our community, are out of accord with the teaching of the church which insists that brotherly relations between man and man, employer and employee, must be realized. Nevertheless, there is no cause for throwing up the struggle. Battles have been won and the church has played its part in the victory. The program has not been fully crowned with success; there are yet tugs to come, and in commemorating fifty years of achievement, the people of this church, and the two neighboring churches that commemorate their jubilee, will gird themselves for a stronger tug, hoping that they may pull harder and stronger and more victoriously in the next fifty years than they, and those who preceded them, have in the past.

THE OTHER HALF OF THE WORLD

THE old adage, "One half of the world does not know how the other half lives," has never been fully appreciated by either half of the world. Lack of understanding of the other man's position is the most effective cause of the antagonisms that so often disturb individual and social relations. When one person is required to take another person's place for a while, the substitute learns something of the conditions which are largely responsible for determining the other person's attitude to life.

E. G. Hall, president of the Minnesota Federation of Labor, writing to the Minneapolis Journal, in one of a series of articles by different writers, under the head "Greater Minnesota," has this to say:

"If those who are honestly and sincerely interested in the future of our state, and who really want to find out how best to remove the discontent, would, say for six months, start out to raise their families of three or five on an average wage of $3.00 a day, and out of that supply food, clothing, rent and fuel and the other necessities that we need in the way of a living, and provide education for those who are destined to be the future citizens, many of the problems that are continually cropping up will be eliminated, and the greatness of our state will be realized in greater proportion than anyone ever dreamed."

On the other hand it is true that if the man whose income is $3.00 a day could take the place of another man whose income is much larger, he might be brought to realize that his ideas of the other man's easy life had been very far from the truth. He would find that whereas he receives $3.00 a day for working a certain number of hours and leaves his work when those hours have passed, the other man's hours are not fixed, and that often in those hours when he is supposed to be away from his toil he is at work on problems that disturb the tranquillity of his life.

Nevertheless, it is true that if those who are more fortunate in their control of this world's goods would try to see the hardships that enter the lives of those who are not so fortunate, out of the better understanding that would ensue, there would come more cordial and humane relationships, with better communities and better states.

It looks now as though the nations of Europe had plucked Turkey which is in danger of falling into boiling Greece.

CHARGED PASSING WORTHLESS CHECKS

In Municipal Court a Mrs. Hattie Boyer, Transient, Confesses to Wrong Doing

FIVE MERCHANTS VICTIMIZED

In Court Stated She Had Two Sons Living, One Was Killed Overseas in World War

Brainerd proved to be a fertile field for the raising of money on worthless checks, until it all ended as most forgery cases have in the past.

Saturday evening Chief of Police Erick Graff with Officer Henry Abrahamson arrested a woman, giving her name as Mrs. Hattie Boyer, at the house she was occupying, 814 4th avenue N. E., charged with forging and passing worthless checks.

In municipal court Monday morning Mrs. Boyer confessed to the passing of at least four checks, which are in the hands of the county attorney. One dated Oct. 12th, was given the H. F. Michael Co. It was signed Mrs. H. Boyer and was drawn on the Merchants National bank of Sauk Center, amount $5.

Three other checks, all drawn on the Brainerd State bank, are as follows: November 16th, to the O'Brien Mercantile Co., for $12 and signed "Mrs. W. B. Harris"; November 21st to the Northern Home Furnishing Co., for $10 and signed "Mrs. J. B. Miller"; November 21st, to Zimmerman & Co., for $10 and signed "Mrs. W. B. Clark".

Mrs. Boyer states that she decided to make Brainerd her home and came here to reside permanently about 3 weeks ago. She stated that she intended to have her married daughter and her husband come to Brainerd and live with her. She says that she has two sons living, and a third was killed overseas in the World war.

She appears to be a woman between 45 and 50 years of age. She refused to divulge any further information concerning her past, so it is not known where she came from or where her relatives reside. It would seem that hard circumstances forced the passing of worthless checks as a last resort, since she has not the actions or appearance of a seasoned criminal. In court she wore a shabby coat and head gear resembling a dust cap.

She waived examination and was bound over to the district court on bonds of $500. She stated that she has no money, so will have to await trial in the county jail. The court will appoint an attorney to defend her when the case comes to trial.

The police stated Mrs. Boyer had sent two suitcases to Farmington, Minn. and it was thought she intended to leave for that city Sunday, had she not been intercepted by the police on Saturday evening.

Mr. Michael of the H. F. Michael Co., stated that in connection with the check cashed at his store, a telephone message from Sauk Center indicated the fact a woman with a name very similar to Boyer had a saving account in the Merchants National bank, but had moved out of the city some time ago.

Late this afternoon Chief Graff located another worthless check the woman is alleged to have given, being one for $10 on the Citizens State Bank of Brainerd, made out to the "Golden Rule". The check was marked "No Account."

Before Judge W. S. McClenahan in district court this afternoon, Mrs. Boyer pleaded guilty to forgery in the third degree and was given an indeterminate sentence at the reformatory at Shakopee.

IN MUNICIPAL COURT

Hubert Man Fined For Being Short Tail Light, Also Lacked One Headlight and License Plate

In municipal court Monday morning, Carl Nelson paid a fine of $15 for being drunk and disorderly.

Nelson is one of the replacement men at the shops and was arrested on complaint of his brother who said that Carl was threatening to shoot him. A .32 caliber Smith & Wesson revolver was found on the man when arrested.

W. Hafl, of Hubert paid a fine of $2 for being without proper lighting on his automobile. He had no tail light and only one headlight. The rear license plate was also missing.

First Congregational Church

The Ladies Aid of the First Congregational church will hold a Christmas sale in the social rooms of the church on Saturday, December 2nd. Lunch will be served during the afternoon and evening.

EDUCATIONAL BILL IS GIVEN EXPLANATION

Mrs. W. C. Cobb of Brainerd Spoke to a Gathering of Women in Little Falls

SIX PROVISIONS ELUCIDATED

Only a Few Minor Changes in Many Years Have Been Made in Minnesota's School Code

(Little Falls Daily Transcript)

Mrs. W. C. Cobb of Brainerd spoke to a small gathering of women at the library Friday afternoon in the interest of the League of Women Voters on six provisions of the educational bill which will come before the state legislature at the next session. A bill which will come before the state which is now being prepared failed to pass the legislature last year but it is the belief of the League that if it can get in touch with the people throughout the state they will get behind the present bill and back it. The week of December 3 to 10 is "better schools" week and Mrs. Cobb stated that during that week speakers should be secured to go out into the rural districts and speak in the interests of this educational work. Brainerd people are also arranging a large mass meeting and have secured a speaker from one of the state teacher's colleges. In that city the American Legion is taking charge of the arrangements for carrying on the work.

"Minnesota is working under practically the same school code that she had when she became a state," said Mr. Cobb. "Only a few minor changes have been made."

"In 1920 $38,000,000 was spent on education and ten years preceding $13,000,000, an increase of $25,000,000 in 10 years. What business corporation is there that would think of running its business, which increased at such a rate, on the same principles, with the same narrow business policy that it used 64 years ago? I doubt if any. Educators have been trying to improve this code for 40 years. They now have come to the conclusion that it is impossible to improve the educational laws until the interest of the voters is secured and the people go far have not been interested in educational bills."

The six provisions of the educational bill as presented by Mrs. Cobb are:

1. Making the minimum school term eight months. Last year the average child attended school 136 days.
2. Strengthening of the compulsory attendance law by having supervision of state aid in the state department. In 1910 Minnesota stood 11th in school attendance and in 1920 she slipped to 24th place. A recent survey showed that 90 per cent of the schools in six counties were without playground apparatus; 79 per cent carried drinking water from some distance; 60 per cent not properly deslaked; 37 per cent poorly lighted and 51 per cent actually dirty. The city school child is well taken care of but not so the rural child.
3. Provision for part time or continuance schools. These are principally for industrial workers who have been unable during their school life to properly go to school.
4. An effective program for physical education encouraged by state aid. Statistics show that the rural child is more physically defective than the city child and more susceptible to diseases. If every state could have a program of physical education it would not need military training.
5. An increased provision for teachers' helpers in the rural districts. St. Louis county has pointed the way for the rest of the state in this matter. The helpers go to the school and spend from two days to a week helping the teacher to arrange her program, group her classes, and to solve her social problems by making the school the center of the community life. New Jersey has had teachers' helpers since 1916 and in 1920 reported that the state superintendent said the teachers' helpers improved the rural school 100 per cent.
6. A county unit and county educational board which should employ the county superintendent and truancy officers to enforce the compulsory attendance law.

At the close of Mrs. Cobb's talk an organization was formed to support the educational bill. Mrs. R. L. Cocran was appointed temporary chairman and Mrs. Jenny Lind Blanchard secretary. A committee was appointed to meet and make arrangements for a big mass meeting to be held during "better schools" week. Mrs. Val E. Kasperek will be chairman of the committee. Others who will act on this committee are: Crawford Sheldon, as county superintendent; A. H. Vernon of the American Legion; Mrs. R. D. Musser of the state board of education; W. H. Ryan, president

SLIPPERY PAVING CAUSES ACCIDENT

Henry Johnson of Tenstrike So Badly Injured on Deerwood-Crosby Road, May Not Live

CAR WENT THROUGH RAILING

Struck a Tree and Was Completely Wrecked—3 Other Occupants Not Badly Hurt

One accident at least, is reported as a result of slippery paving Sunday. Four members of the P. W. Roark construction crew, working on the new Deerwood-Bay Lake highway, were driving over the paving between Deerwood and Crosby Sunday afternoon about three o'clock when their Ford refused to make a turn at the east end of Serpent Lake and after breaking through the guard rail ran into a large tree before it could be stopped.

A man by the name of Jennings was driving the ill fated car. Henry Johnson, of Tenstrike, Minn., was the only occupant injured, but his injuries were so serious that he was not expected to live. He was taken to a hospital in Crosby.

People who saw the results of the accident state that the car must have been going at a good rate of speed.

The wire used in the make-up of the guard rail, was cut in a number of places as neatly as if it had been snipped with shears. A heavy cedar post was sliced off and no doubt more damage done if the big Norway pine had not stood in the way. The car, of course, is a complete wreck.

of the Board of Commerce; Mrs. Geo. Peterson of the Civic League; Mrs. Geo. Moeglein of the Child Interest club; Mrs. Phil S. Randall, Woman's Guild; the presidents of all of the Mothers' clubs; Mrs. Kallher of the Musical Art; Mrs. Jenny Lind Blanchard; A. V. Taylor, Lion's club; H. E. Biddinger, as head of the business college; all of the clergy of the city.

SOUTH SIDE, 0; NORTH SIDE, 0

The North and South side football teams clashed on the gas plant gridiron, Saturday morning, and battled to a scoreless tie. Though the South side had the ball on their opponents' one yard line several times, the North side team braced and successfully withstood line plunges by Dubois and Gould. At no time was the South side goal threatened.

Features of the game were the tackles of Murphy, Wise, and Evans, line plunging by Dubois, and the sensational run of J. Wise who, after intercepting a North side pass, ran 20 yards; for the North side team the end runs of Opsahl, the passing of Putz, and tackling of Brown and Rodenkirchen were to be commended. The lineup:

COUNTY BOARD INSPECTS ROADS

Accompanied by County Highway Engineer Walter M. Murphy, Roads North and East Examined

THE NEW EMILY-CROSBY ROAD

Rona Hill and Camp Creek Roads in Fair Shape—Weekly Road Report of Mr. Murphy

The board of county commissioners, accompanied by County Highway Engineer Walter M. Murphy, made a tour of inspection of the county roads north and east of Brainerd Sunday. Their route was north through Merrifield, over the newly graded highway to Cross Lake, then to Emily where they were guests at a delicious dinner served by Mr. Brannan of the Emily hotel.

After dining, the party resumed their travel over the new Emily-Crosby road as far as the Mississippi river bridge where they detoured to inspect two new projects completed this year, the Rona Hill and Camp Creek roads, which they found in fair shape.

White line road No. 11, through Wolfert and Manganese and Ironfronton was found to be in excellent condition, and the party drove through Crosby, Deerwood and out on the Bay Lake road to the P. W. Roark Construction Company's camp, where supper was eaten. All are loud in their praise of this meal, which turned out to be a veritable feast, not at all along the lines one would expect at a construction camp in the woods.

The return to Brainerd was made over No. 18 from Flint's corner, the party arriving in town about 9:30.

Mr. Murphy makes his weekly road report, much of it taken from the findings of yesterday's trip.

State Road No. 3, Merrifield and north, very good with exception of two miles which is as yet unsurfaced. Cross Lake to Emily, good.

SALE OF IRON ORE PROSPECTING PERMITS

Covering State Lands

Notice is hereby given that up to 10 o'clock A. M. on Jan. 8th, 1923, in the State Auditor's Office, State Capitol, Saint Paul, Minnesota, under the provisions of Chapter 412, Laws 1921, I will receive sealed bids for permits to prospect for iron ore on state lands or lands in which the state has an interest, except lands situated under the waters of any public lake or river. At said hour such sealed bids will be opened and permits awarded to the highest bidder.

All applications for permits must be accompanied by certified check made payable to the state treasurer in the sum of $50.00 for each mining unit applied for and be accompanied by a sealed bid setting forth the amount of royalty per ton the applicant proposes to pay to the state in case his bid for such permit be accepted and a mineral lease issued thereunder. Such sealed bids shall also be accompanied by a certified check payable to the state treasurer in the sum of $250.00 as a guarantee that the applicant will carry out and perform in good faith all his covenants and agreements set forth in the permit. The sealed bids shall have plainly marked on the envelope containing the same the name of the applicant, the date of the application, the date received by the State Auditor and class of mineral land involved. The bids shall be made in such manner only as to clearly indicate the amount intended to be offered, but no bid shall be accepted which does not equal or exceed the minimum royalty per ton as set forth in said Chapter 412.

The right to reject any and all bids is reserved to the State.

The limitations and requirements as to the purchasers of permits are as set forth in Sec. 5 and 6, of said Chap. 412, which sections are hereby referred to and made a part of this notice.

The general terms and conditions of permits and mining leases are as set forth in Sections 5, 6 and 7, of said Chap. 412, which sections are hereby referred to and made a part hereof.

Lists of lands showing classes and arrangements of mining units, together with blanks and general information covering the subject of permits and leases, including copies of said Chapter 412, Laws 1921, may be had at the office of the State Auditor, Saint Paul, Minnesota.

CHARGED PASSING WORTHLESS CHECKS

In Municipal Court a Mrs. Hattie Boyer, Transient, Confesses to Wrong Doing

FIVE MERCHANTS VICTIMIZED

In Court Stated She Had Two Sons Living, One Was Killed Overseas in World War

Braierd proved to be a fertile field for the raising of money on worthless checks, until it all ended as most forgery cases have in the past.

Saturday evening Chief of Police Erick Graff with Officer Henry Abrahamson arrested a woman, giving her name as Mrs. Hattie Boyer, at the house she was occupying, 814 4th avenue N. E., charged with forging and passing worthless checks.

In municipal court Monday morning Mrs. Boyer confessed to the passing of at least four checks, which are in the hands of the county attorney. One dated Oct. 12th, was given the H. F. Michael Co. It was signed Mrs. H. Boyer and was drawn on the Merchants National bank of Sauk Center, amount $5.

Three other checks, all drawn on the Braierd State bank, are as follows: November 16th, to the O'Brien Mercantile Co., for $12 and signed "Mrs. W. B. Harris"; November 21st to the Northern Home Furnishing Co., for $10 and signed "Mrs. J. B. Miller"; November 21st, to Zimmerman & Co., for $10 and signed "Mrs. W. B. Clark".

Mrs. Boyer states that she decided to make Braierd her home and came here to reside permanently about 3 weeks ago. She stated that she intended to have her married daughter and her husband come to Braierd and live with her. She says that she has two sons living, and a third was killed overseas in the World war.

She appears to be a woman between 45 and 50 years of age. She refused to divulge any further information concerning her past, so it is not known where she came from or where her relatives reside. It would seem that hard circumstances forced the passing of worthless checks as a last resort, since she has not the actions or appearance of a seasoned criminal. In court she wore a shabby coat and head gear resembling a dust cap.

She waived examination and was bound over to the district court on bonds of $500. She stated that she has no money, so will have to await trial in the county jail. The court will appoint an attorney to defend her when the case comes to trial.

The police stated Mrs. Boyer had sent two suitcases to Farmington, Minn., and it was thought she intended to leave for that city Sunday, had she not been intercepted by the police on Saturday evening.

Mr. Michael of the H. F. Michael Co., stated that in connection with the check cashed at his store, a telephone message from Sauk Center indicated the fact a woman with a name very similar to Boyer had a saving account in the Merchants National bank, but had moved out of the city some time ago.

Late this afternoon Chief Graff located another worthless check the woman is alleged to have given, being one for $10 on the Citizens State Bank of Braierd, made out to the "Golden Rule". The check was marked "No Account."

Before Judge W. S. McClenahan in district court this afternoon, Mrs. Boyer pleaded guilty to forgery in the third degree and was given an indeterminate sentence at the reformatory at Shakopee.

Hubert Man Fined For Being Short Tail Light, Also Lacked One Headlight and License Plate

In municipal court Monday morning, Carl Nelson paid a fine of $15 for being drunk and disorderly.

Nelson is one of the replacement men at the shops and was arrested on complaint of his brother who said that Carl was threatening to shoot him. A .32 caliber Smith & Wesson revolver was found on the man when arrested.

W. Hall, of Hubert paid a fine of $2 for being without proper lighting on his automobile. He had no tail light and only one headlight. The rear license plate was also missing.

EDUCATIONAL BILL IS GIVEN EXPLANATION

Mrs. W. C. Cobb of Braierd Spoke to a Gathering of Women in Little Falls

SIX PROVISIONS ELUCIDATED

Only a Few Minor Changes in Many Years Have Been Made in Minnesota's School Code

(Little Falls Daily Transcript)
Mrs. W. C. Cobb of Braierd spoke to a small gathering of women at the library Friday afternoon in the interest of the League of Women Voters on six provisions of the educational bill which will come before the state legislature at the next session. A bill which will come before the state which is now being prepared failed to pass the legislature last year but it is the belief of the League that if it can get in touch with the people throughout the state they will get behind the present bill and back it. The week of December 3 to 10 is "better schools" week and Mrs. Cobb stated that during that week speakers should be secured to go out into the rural districts and speak in the interests of this educational work. Braierd people are also arranging a large mass meeting and have secured a speaker from one of the state teacher's colleges. In that city the American Legion is taking charge of the arrangements for carrying on the work.

"Minnesota is working under practically the same school code that she had when she became a state," said Mr. Cobb. "Only a few minor changes have been made."

In 1920 $38,000,000 was spent on education and ten years preceding $13,000,000, an increase of $25,000,000 in 10 years. What business corporation is there that would think of running its business, which increased at such a rate, on the same principles, with the same narrow business policy that it used 64 years ago? I doubt if any. Educators have been trying to improve this code for 40 years. They now have come to the conclusion that it is impossible to improve the educational laws until the interest of the voters is secured and the people so far have not been interested in educational bills."

The six provisions of the educational bill as presented by Mrs. Cobb are:
1. Making the minimum school term eight months. Last year the average child attended school 126 days.
2. Strengthening of the compulsory attendance law by having supervision of state aid in the state department. In 1910 Minnesota stood 11th in school attendance and in 1920 she slipped to 24th place. A recent survey showed that 90 per cent of the schools in six counties were without playground apparatus; 79 per cent carried drinking water from some distance; 60 per cent not properly deked; 37 per cent poorly lighted and 51 per cent actually dirty. The city school child is well taken care of but not so the rural child.

3. Provision for part time or continuance schools. These are principally for industrial workers who have been unable during their school life to properly go to school.

4. An effective program for physical education encouraged by state aid. Statistics show that the rural child is more physically defective than the city child and more susceptible to diseases. If every state could have a program of physical education it would not need military training.

5. An increased provision for teachers' helpers in the rural districts. St. Louis county has pointed the way for the rest of the state in this matter. The helpers go to the school and spend from two days to a week helping the teacher to arrange her program, group her classes, and to solve her social problems by making the school the center of the community life. New Jersey has had teachers' helpers since 1916 and in 1920 reported that the state superintendent said the teachers' helpers improved the rural school 100 per cent.

6. A county unit and county educational board which should employ the county superintendent and trustee officers to enforce the compulsory attendance law.
At the close of Mrs. Cobb's talk an organization was formed to support the educational bill. Mrs. R. L. Cocran was appointed temporary chairman and Mrs. Jenny Lind Blanchard secretary. A committee was appointed to meet and make arrangements for a big mass meeting to be held during "better schools" week. Mrs. Val E. Kasperek will be chairman of the committee. Others who will act on this committee are: Crawford Sheldon, as county superintendent; A. H. Vernon of the American Legion; Mrs. R. D. Musser of the state board of education; W. H. Ryan, president

Henry Johnson of Tenstrike So Badly Injured on Deerwood-Crosby Road, May Not Live

CAR WENT THROUGH RAILING

Struck a Tree and Was Completely Wrecked—3 Other Occupants Not Badly Hurt

One accident at least, is reported as a result of slippery paving Sunday. Four members of the P. W. Roark construction crew, working on the new Deerwood-Bay Lake highway, were driving over the paving between Deerwood and Crosby Sunday afternoon about three o'clock when their Ford refused to make a turn at the east end of Serpent Lake and after breaking through the guard rail ran into a large tree before it could be stopped.

A man by the name of Jennings was driving the ill fated car. Henry Johnson, of Tenstrike, Minn., was the only occupant injured, but his injuries were so serious that he was not expected to live. He was taken to a hospital in Crosby.

People who saw the results of the accident state that the car must have been going at a good rate of speed.

The wire used in the make-up of the guard rail, was cut in a number of places as neatly as if it had been snipped with shears. A heavy cedar post was sliced off and no doubt more damage done if the big Norway pine had not stood in the way. The car, of course, is a complete wreck.

Biddinger, as head of the business college; all of the clergy of the city.

SOUTH SIDE, 0; NORTH SIDE, 0

The North and South side football teams clashed on the gas plant gridiron, Saturday morning, and battled to a scoreless tie. Though the South side had the ball on their opponents' one yard line several times, the North side team braced and successfully withstood line plunges by Dubois and Gould. At no time was the South side goal threatened.

Features of the game were the tackles of Murphy, Wise, and Evans, line plunging by Dubois, and the sensational run of J. Wise who, after intercepting a North side pass, ran 29 yards; for the North side team the end runs of Opsahl, the passing of Putz, and tackling of Brown and Rodenkirchen were to be commended. The lineup:

COUNTY BOARD INSPECTS ROADS

Accompanied by County Highway Engineer Walter M. Murphy, Roads North and East Examined

THE NEW EMILY-CROSBY ROAD

Rona Hill and Camp Creek Roads in Fair Shape—Weekly Road Report of Mr. Murphy

The board of county commissioners, accompanied by County Highway Engineer Walter M. Murphy, made a tour of inspection of the county roads north and east of Braierd Sunday. Their route was north through Merrifield, over the newly graded highway to Cross Lake, then to Emily where they were guests at a delicious dinner served by Mr. Brannan of the Emily hotel.

After dining, the party resumed their travel over the new Emily-Crosby road as far as the Mississippi river bridge where they detoured to inspect two new projects completed this year, the Reno Hill and Camp Creek roads, which they found in fair shape.

White line road No. 11, through Wolfert and Manganese and into Ironton was found to be in excellent condition, and the party drove through Crosby, Deerwood and out on the Bay Lake road to the P. W. Roark Construction Company's camp, where supper was eaten. All are loud in their praise of this meal, which turned out to be a veritable feast, not at all along the lines one would expect at a construction camp in the woods.

The return to Braierd was made over No. 18 from Flint's corner, the party arriving in town about 9:30.

Mr. Murphy makes his weekly road report, much of it taken from the findings of yesterday's trip.

State Road No. 3, Merrifield and north, very good with exception of two miles which is as yet unsurfaced. Cross Lake to Emily, good.

State Road No. 8, Emily to Crosby, first six miles, good, balance of road to the Mississippi river bridge is new construction work and quite rough. Best to detour from bridge over Wolfert-Manganese road into Ironton, which is in excellent condition.

State Road No. 5, Deerwood to Bay Lake, good except where construction work is being done.

State Road No. 1, 13th street to county line, good practically entire distance.

White line roads in north part of county, good, in south part of county, fair.

FANNING WITH ARRELL

BOXING COMMISSIONS GO TOO FAR

By HENRY L. FARRELL
United Press Sports Editor

New York, Nov. 27.—Perhaps the French Boxing Federation is more generally recognized in France than the New York commission is in this country and even in its own state.

When the French ring solons took Battling Siki's titles away from him and suspended him for nine months from all activities in the ring, it was perhaps accepted as official in France—because the French wanted it that way.

Getting down to common sense, it must be a new day when a ring champion can be legislated out from under his crown. It has never been done before and if this case becomes an established precedent there is no telling where it will end.

It is not to be denied that Siki should have been disciplined for striking the manager of another boxer in the ring, but the French should have started the "training" of what they now call a savage as soon as he beat Carpentier. Instead of hailing him as a hero grand and allowing him all kinds of liberties, the French people should have discouraged him from seeking a place on their level if they did figure that he was not fit company for them.

Giving him ninety days suspension was fit punishment for the offense, but the attempt to take his titles away from him is silly.

As Jack McAniff says—"The only way to get a title is to smack some one on the chin and the only way to lose one is to get smacked."

Officially, Johnny Wilson and Johnny Kilbane are not world's champions by the ruling of the New York boxing commission. Officially, Siki is not the world's light heavyweight champion and the European heavyweight champion. But ask anyone in the street who are the champions in those classes.

French people always go to extremes. They were not content when they got Siki down and they are trying to keep him down.

When he was arrested for appearing on Armistice Day in the uniform of the Algerian Rifles, an outfit with which he served for four years, he was arrested. That savors of persecution and persecution has no place in sportsmanship.

Many explanations are being made that Siki's color had nothing to do with it. Maybe not. However, if Georges Carpentier had done the same thing when he was in all his glory it's a hundred to one shot that he never would have been disciplined.

The New York boxing commission was quick to back up the actions of the French body by giving Siki the gate in barring him from this country. In this the august New York body is anything but consistent.

During the last fight between Jack Britton and Ted Lewis, Britton went over to the Lewis corner and took a hefty swing on the jaw of one of Ted's seconds. Everyone, including the commissioners, thought it was a good joke.

Just recently after a bout at a small club, in which one of the boys in the Johnny Keyes-Jimmy Kelly stables was given a draw, someone entered the dressing room and gave Referee Artie McGovern a terrible beating. Nothing has been done about it.

The commission has always maintained that it must support its officials. If that is support, referees in the future will have to go about in armor plate.

LEATRICE JOY, LON CHANEY AND JOHN BOWERS IN "THE ACE OF HEARTS"

The photoplay at the Lyceum theatre tonight and Tuesday is "Ace of Hearts," by Gouverneur Morris, and was produced by Goldwyn, who also made this author's powerful story, "The Penalty." Those who saw the latter picture will remember the marvelous impersonation of a legless man by Lon Chaney. This remarkable character actor has one of the three leading parts in "Ace of Hearts." The other leading roles are taken by Leatrice Joy and John Bowers.

SAGE TEA BEAUTIFIES AND DARKENS HAIR

Don't Stay Gray! It Darkens So Naturally That Nobody Can Tell

You can turn gray, faded hair beautifully dark and lustrous almost overnight if you'll get a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" at any drug store. Millions of bottles of this old famous Sage Tea Recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, are sold annually, says a well-known druggist here, because it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that no one can tell it has been applied.

Those whose hair is turning gray or becoming faded have a surprise awaiting them, because after one or two applications the gray hair vanishes and your locks become luxuriantly dark and beautiful.

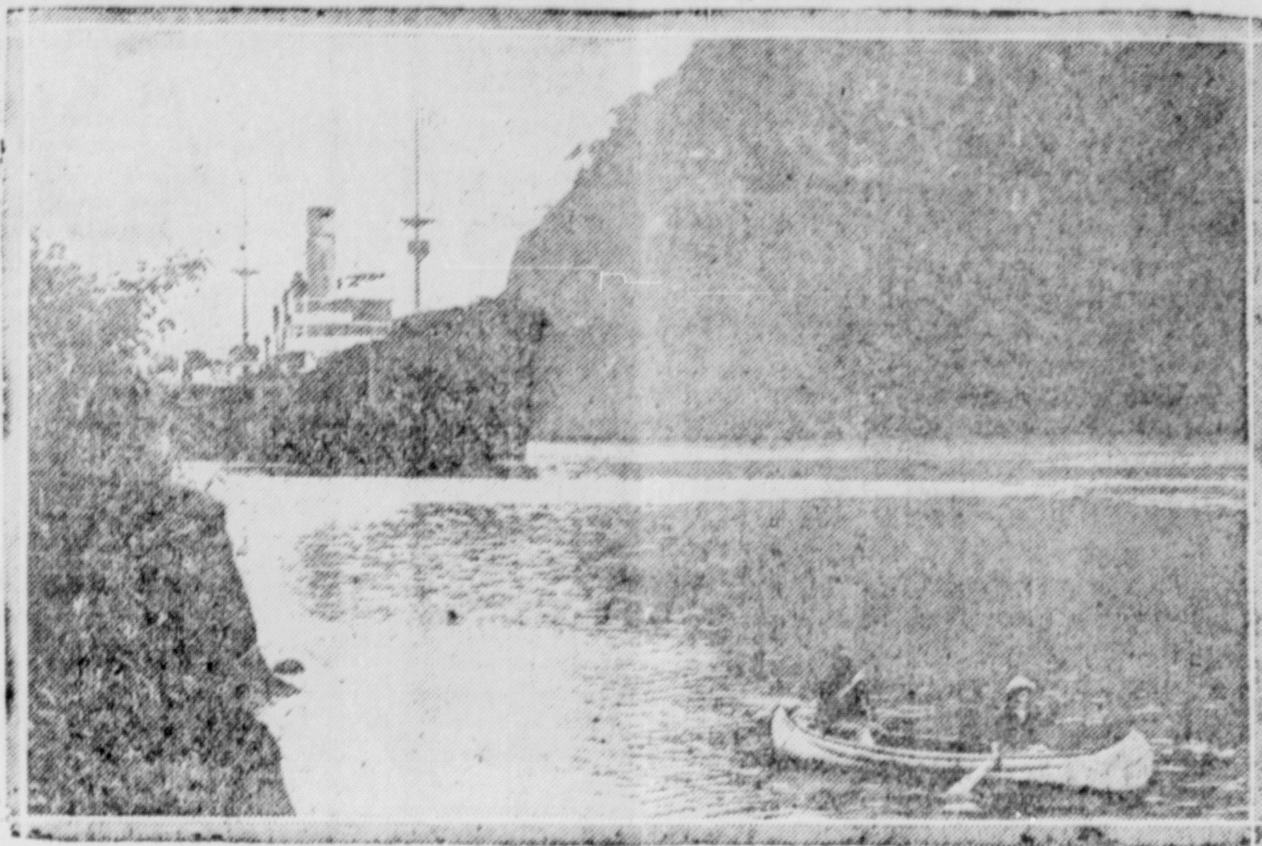

This is the age of youth. Gray-haired, unattractive folks aren't wanted around, so get busy with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound tonight and you'll be delighted with your dark, handsome hair and your youthful appearance within a few days.

REAL POETS ARE PROPHETS

They Participate in the Eternal, the Infinite and the One, Says Shelley.

Every original language near to its source is in itself the chaos of a cyclic poem; the copiousness of lexicography and the distinctions of grammar are the works of a later age, and are merely the catalogue and the form of the creations of poetry.

But poets, or those who imagine and express this indestructible order, are not only the authors of language and of music, of the dance, and architecture, and statuary, and painting; they are the institutors of laws, and the founders of civil society, and the inventors of the arts of life, and the teachers, who draw into a certain propriety with the beautiful and the true, that partial apprehension of the agencies of the invisible world which is called religion. . . . Not that I assert poets to be prophets in the gross sense of the world, or that they can foretell the form as surely as they foreknow the spirit of events; such is the pretense of superstition, which would make poetry an attribute of prophecy rather than prophecy an attribute of poetry. A poet participates in the eternal, the infinite, and the one; as far as relates to his conceptions, time and place and number are not. The grammatical forms which express the moods of time, and the difference of persons, and the distinction of place, are convertible with respect to the highest poetry without injuring it as poetry; and the choruses of Aeschylus, and the Book of Job, and Dante's Paradise, would afford, more than any other writings, examples of this fact.—Shelley.

Early Impressions.

The little, or almost insensible impressions on our tender infancies have very important and lasting consequences; and there it is as in the fountains of some rivers, where a gentle application of the hand turns the flexible waters into channels that makes them take quite contrary courses; and by this little direction, given them at first, in the source, they receive different tendencies, and arrive at last at very remote and distant places.—Locke.

Today. There is a thing called yesterday, but that is only the dust-biz at the door, into which we cast our refuse, our failures, our worn-out souls. There is a thing called tomorrow, bursting with far better things than those which we have discarded. But in today the whole passionate force of the universe is poured—and therefore today is marvellous.—S. P. B. Mals.

CATARRH OF THE STOMACH

YOU CAN'T ENJOY LIFE with a sore, sour, bloated stomach. Food does not nourish. Instead it is a source of misery, causing pains, belching, dizziness and headaches.

The person with a bad stomach should be satisfied with nothing less than permanent, lasting relief.

The right remedy will act upon the linings of the stomach, enrich the blood, aid in casting out the catarrhal poisons and strengthen every bodily function.

The large number of people who have successfully used Dr. Hartman's famous medicine, recommended for all catarrhal conditions, offer the strongest possible endorsement for

FANNING WITH FARRELL

BOXING COMMISSIONS GO TOO FAR

By HENRY L. FARRELL
United Press Sports Editor

New York, Nov. 27.—Perhaps the French Boxing Federation is more generally recognized in France than the New York commission is in this country and even in its own state.

When the French ring solons took Battling Siki's titles away from him and suspended him for nine months from all activities in the ring, it was perhaps accepted as official in France—because the French wanted it that way.

Getting down to common sense, it must be a new day when a ring champion can be legislated out from under his crown. It has never been done before and if this case becomes an established precedent there is no telling where it will end.

It is not to be denied that Siki should have been disciplined for striking the manager of another boxer in the ring, but the French should have started the "training" of what they now call a savage as soon as he beat Carpentier.

Instead of hailing him as a hero grand and allowing him all kinds of liberties, the French people should have discouraged him from seeking a place on their level if they did figure that he was not fit company for them.

Giving him ninety days suspension was fit punishment for the offense, but the attempt to take his titles away from him is silly.

As Jack McAuliffe says—"The only way to get a title is to smack some one on the chin and the only way to lose one is to get smacked."

Officially, Johnny Wilson and Johnny Kilbane are not world's champions by the ruling of the New York boxing commission. Officially, Siki is not the world's light heavyweight champion and the European heavyweight champion. But ask anyone in the street who are the champions in those classes.

French people always go to extremes. They were not content when they got Siki down and they are trying to keep him down.

When he was arrested for appearing on Armistice Day in the uniform of the Algerian Rifles, an outfit with which he served for four years, he was arrested. That savors of persecution and persecution has no place in sportsmanship.

Many explanations are being made that Siki's color had nothing to do with it. Maybe not. However, if Georges Carpentier had done the same thing when he was in all his glory it's a hundred to one shot that he never would have been disciplined.

The New York boxing commission was quick to back up the actions of the French body by giving Siki the gate in barring him from this country. In this the august New York body is anything but consistent.

During the last fight between Jack Britton and Ted Lewis, Britton went over to the Lewis corner and took a hefty swing on the jaw of one of Ted's seconds. Everyone, including the commissioners, thought it was a good joke.

Just recently after a bout at a small club, in which one of the boys in the Johnny Keyes-Jimmy Kelly stables was given a draw, someone entered the dressing room and gave Referee Artie McGovern a terrible beating. Nothing has been done about it.

The commission has always maintained that it must support its officials. If that is support, referees in the future will have to go about in armor plate.

LEATRICE JOY, LON CHANEY AND JOHN BOWERS IN THE "ACE OF HEARTS" A GOLDWYN PICTURE

The photoplay at the Lyceum theatre tonight and Tuesday is "Ace of Hearts," by Gouverneur Morris, and was produced by Goldwyn, who also made this author's powerful story, "The Penalty." Those who saw the latter picture will remember the marvelous impersonation of a legless man by Lon Chaney. This remarkable character actor has one of the three leading parts in "Ace of Hearts." The other leading roles are taken by Leatrice Joy and John Bowers.

SAGE TEA BEAUTIFIES AND DARKENS HAIR

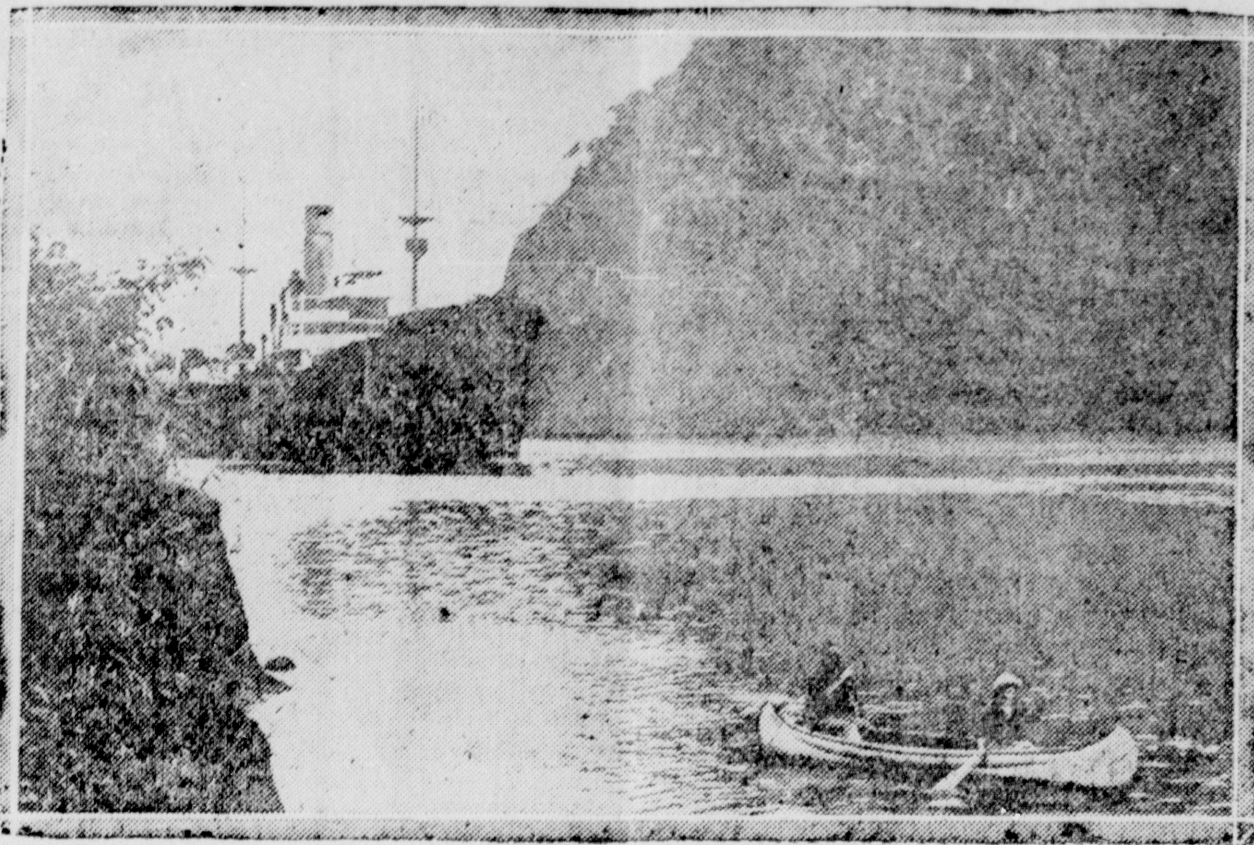

Don't Stay Gray! It Darkens So Naturally That Nobody Can Tell

You can turn gray, faded hair beautifully dark and lustrous almost overnight if you'll get a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" at any drug store. Millions of bottles of this old famous Sage Tea Recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, are sold annually, says a well-known druggist here, because it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that no one can tell it has been applied.

Those whose hair is turning gray or becoming faded have a surprise awaiting them, because after one or two applications the gray hair vanishes and your locks become luxuriantly dark and beautiful.

This is the age of youth. Gray-haired, unattractive folks aren't wanted around, so get busy with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound tonight and you'll be delighted with your dark, handsome hair and your youthful appearance within a few days.

Government Swimming Director at Balboa.

REAL POETS ARE PROPHETS

They Participate in the Eternal, the Infinite and the One, Says Shelley.

Every original language near to its source is in itself the chaos of a cyclic poem; the copiousness of lexicography and the distinctions of grammar are the works of a later age, and are merely the catalogue and the form of the creations of poetry.

But poets, or those who imagine and express this indestructible order, are not only the authors of language and of music, of the dance, and architecture, and statuary, and painting; they are the institutors of laws, and the founders of civil society, and the inventors of the arts of life, and the teachers, who draw into a certain propinquity with the beautiful and the true, that partial apprehension of the agencies of the invisible world which is called religion. . . . Not that I assert poets to be prophets in the gross sense of the world, or that they can foretell the form as surely as they foreknow the spirit of events; such is the pretense of superstition, which would make poetry an attribute of prophecy rather than prophecy an attribute of poetry. A poet participates in the eternal, the infinite, and the one; as far as relates to his conceptions, time and place and number are not. The grammatical forms which express the moods of time, and the difference of persons, and the distinction of place, are convertible with respect to the highest poetry without injuring it as poetry; and the choruses of Aeschylus, and the Book of Job, and Dante's Paradise, would afford, more than any other writings, examples of this fact.—Shelley.

The First Lesson.

"What is your attitude toward the unemployment situation?" "One of hopeful expectancy," said Mr. Cobbles.

"How is that?" "I believe when my boy has landed a few months longer he'll quit admiring his college diploma, slam it down in the bottom of his trunk and go out to look for a regular job."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Early impressions.

The little, or almost insensible impressions on our tender infancies have very important and lasting consequences; and there it is as in the fountains of some rivers, where a gentle application of the hand turns the flexible waters into channels that makes them take quite contrary courses; and by this little direction, given them at first, in the source, they receive different tendencies, and arrive at last at very remote and distant places.—Locke.

Today.

There is a thing called yesterday, but that is only the dust-bin at the door, into which we cast our refuse, our failures, our worn-out souls. There is a thing called tomorrow, bursting with far better things than those which we have discarded. But in today the whole passionate force of the universe is poured—and therefore today is marvellous.—S. P. B. Mals.
